

S/03/2020
C.S
F.Y.B.A
F.Y.B.COM

A) Match the word in Column X with its antonym in Column Y :

2

Column X	Column Y
Wise	popular
Arrogant	foolish
	humble
	filthy

B) Choose the odd words from the lists of synonyms given below:

2

- i) huge: a) large b) enormous c) new d) mighty
- ii) Polite: a) modest b) rigid c) courteous d) humble

C) Add the appropriate prefix/suffix:

4

- i) That snake looks dangerous but it's totally harm____. Don't worry!
- ii) Oh, look at those ador____puppies. Can I have one?
- iii) We need a complete & truth____account of what happened, Jenifer. Tell us everything.
- iv) These animals sleep during the day and are then act__during the night.

D) Identify and underline the root word.

2

Ex. Monologue – ans: mono-logue

- i) miscommunication-
- ii) microscope-

E) Choose the correct homophone:

2

- i) He was busy____over the costs. (pouring, poring)
- ii) Have you seen the new____shop? (stationery, stationary)

F) Make two sentences with each homonym to bring out at least two meanings.

4

Ex.: well – a) I hope she is doing well.

b) I went down to the well to get some water.

- i) Book ii) Fan

G) Choose the correct collocates:

2

- i) I only____(did/made) mistake in my Maths test.
- ii) She will surely speak____(fluent/easy) english.

H) Give the adjective form of the following words.

2

- i) comfort-
- ii) remark-

(Rewrite the passage with the corrections underlined)

Sammy and ralph was snowmen sammy was ralphs couseen Sammy was a very proper little snowman and ralph was a rabel ralph always wanted to do things differently while Sammy always wanted to do what he was supposed to do because ralph wanted to be different he wore sunglasses a yellow flowred tourist hat and a bright blue shirt he also carried a briefcase Sammy wore a blue top hat a striped scarf and carried a shovel ralph did have one traditional snowman characteristic that was the same as sammys however like all snowmen he had handsome orange carrot nose one day ralph decided to pack his suitcase full of snowballs his cousin Sammy told him not to he told ralph that all the snowballs would melt and ruin his suitcase ralph didnt listen he packed his suitcase full of snowballs and they all melted water started to leak out of his suitcase ralph figured out a way to solve his problem he put his suitcase in the freezer and the water turned to ice

B) Summarise the following passage in about 100 words and give it a suitable title:

10

Man is forever changing the face of nature. He has been doing so since he first appeared on the earth. Yet, all that man has done is not always to the ultimate advantage of the earth or himself. Man has, in fact, destroyed more than necessary.

In his struggle to live and extract the most out of life, man has destroyed many species of wildlife; directly by sheer physical destruction and indirectly by the destruction or alteration of habitats. Some species may be able to withstand disruptions to their habitat while others may not be able to cope.

Take the simple act of farming. When a farmer tills a rough ground, he makes it unsuitable for the survival of certain species. Every change in land use brings about a change in the types of plant and animals found on that land.

When man builds a new town, this means the total destruction of vast areas of farmland or woodland. Here, you have the complete destruction of entire habitats and it is inevitable.

It follows therefore, that every form of human activity unavoidably upsets or changes the wildlife complex of the area. Man has destroyed many forms of wildlife for no reasonable purpose. They have also made many great blunders in land use, habitat destruction and extermination of many forms of wildlife.

Man's attitude towards animals depends on the degree to which his own survival is affected. He sets aside protection for animals that he hunts for sport and wages a war on any other creature that may pose a danger or inconvenience to him. This creates many problems and man has made irreversible, serious errors in his destruction of predators. He has destroyed animals and birds which are useful to farmers as pest controllers. The tragedy that emerges is that all the killing of predators did not in any way increase the number of game birds.

Broadly speaking, man wages war against the creatures which he considers harmful, even when his warfare makes little or no difference to the numbers of those he encourages. There is a delicate predator and prey equilibrium involving also the vegetation of any area, which man can upset by thoughtless intervention.

Therefore, there is a need for the implementation of checks and balances. The continued existence of these animals depends entirely on man and his attitude towards his own future.

Q.III. Draft emails for any two of the following:

20

a) You are planning to go on for adventure holidays. Write an email to travel company asking them to provide information regarding the different tour packages.

b) Write an email to the Principal of a college requesting him to grant you permission for conducting a

- e) Your NGO is organizing a charity event for underprivileged children. Write an email requesting sponsorship.

Q.IV. Attempt any one of the following: (200-250 words)

20

- a) Draft a newspaper report on widespread Corona virus in the world.
- b) Write a report on the activities of the NSS unit for your college magazine.

Q.V. Attempt any one of the following: (200-250)

20

- a) Write a dialogue between two persons discussing the current economic condition of the country.
- b) You attended the inaugural of a new fashion store in your locality. Write a fashion blog about the styles offered

*****